

CULTURAL EXCHANGE & BUSINESS NETWORKING EVENT AT WINDOWS OVER HARLEM

Windows over Harlem (<http://www.windowsoverharlem.com/>) and FUSIA Communications, Inc. (<http://www.fusia.net/>) hosted a cultural exchange and business networking event on Sunday, August 23. Over one hundred members from both the diverse Harlem and Asian business communities attended the event.

As diverse as the members themselves, the event started off with a variety of entertainment, the first being a series of performances by Actor/Performer Lou Myers.

Myers commented that he was pleased with the opportunity to carry out his "there is no border" belief. He mentioned that in the early 70s, he had come to the University of Hong Kong as a guest performer. Students of the school were all excited about it. With a smile, Myers gave a wish to the students, "I wish we would pick up the gold in the street and on the ground, and put it in a big bucket." He suggested that students take advantage of cultural diversity and turn international trade into accessible fortune. He added, "We should put our energy together to light up the universe."
